It is an event in the Book World when Mr. Wells writes a New Book.

This one may be, and probably will be the "Book of the Year."

"Mr. Britling Sees It Through" is the title and in a sense it's a War Book. The scene is located in an Essex County village, and here Mr. Britling sees the changes, social and economic which the war has brought—a great book!

The Price Is $1.50.

Elegance of Line and Decoration Shown in This Louis XVI Bedchamber Suite

The Louis XVI design in furniture is one of the most elegant and charming in the entire array of Periods now brought forward in the revival of classic Furniture for American Homes. In the Bedchamber Suite illustrated here the fluted legs and standards, the wreaths of bay leaves and the sunburst and urn tops produce a purity and beauty which at once suggests elegance without undue elaboration.

The Dresser and Vanity Dresser have set-in Tennessee marble tops, and the latter piece has the adjustable triple mirrors so pleasing to women; beds have cane panels.

One of the most magnificent and exclusive Bedchamber Suites obtainable; made of solid mahogany wood and finished in rich ivory enamel.

We have many other less expensive Suites of more modest design. Very attractive Period designs in Bedchamber Suites can be had from $150.00 upward for complete suite.

The Special September Sale prices make possible exceptionally attractive economies—and there are only six more days in which to share in these savings.

Attorney General And Wife Return From Pennsylvania

The Attorney General and Mrs. Gregory and their family returned to Washington yesterday from Monterey, Pa., where Mrs. Gregory and the family spent the summer.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Graham in Chevy Chase was the scene of a charming wedding last evening when their daughter, Miss Lorraine Graham, became the bride of Mr. Morgan Batchelor Callahan. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Canon J. W. Austin in the presence of a small company of relatives and was followed by a large reception.

The house was effectively decorated with quantities of pink dahlias and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was crowned in white tulle veiled with tulle embroidered in silver. The court train of satin hung from the shoulders and was bordered with orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was arranged under a wreath of orange blossoms and the bride bouquet was a shower of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Anne Holladay was maid of honor. Her gown was of flesh-colored tulle over cloth of gold, made in quaint old-fashioned style with pinnars of yellow satin caught with tiny rosebuds. She carried Radiance roses.

Mr. Carl Crampton acted as best man for Mr. Callahan.

At the reception the bride couple was assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, who wore a handsome gown of orchid crepe meteor trimmed with silver lace.

Mr. Callahan and his bride left later for an extended wedding trip, the latter traveling in a smart tailored suit of dark blue wool velvet, finished with a cape collar of moleskin and a toque of blue velvet and moleskin. On their return they will reside at 511 Warwick place.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Bonaparte were also among the luncheon guests of the Shoreham yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gibson were host at a reception last evening at their residence in Kenyon street in compliment to the wedding party which will attend their daughter, Miss Caroline Gibson, and Mr. Du Belle Lucius Berry, at their marriage today.

The house was charmingly decorated with white and pink dahlias, arranged against a background of palms. Assisting in receiving were Miss Camille Berry, of Sparta, Ga., who will attend Miss Gibson's wedding, and Miss Edith Walker, of Sparta, who will act as best man; Mr. Marvin Pounds, of Sparta; Mr. Bolitha Laws, Mr. L. Pierce Riddle and Mr. Allen E. Harrison, who will be the ushers.

Mrs. F. P. May, whose daughter, Miss Edna Frances May, will be married to Mr. Daniel Robert Forbes this morning at 11 o'clock at St. Paul's Church, entertained the wedding party at dinner last evening preceding the church rehearsal. The guests, in addition to the bride and bridegroom-elect, were Miss Helen May, Miss Florence Forbes, Miss Adele May, Miss Frances May, Miss Edna May, Mr. Henry Cole, of Lakeland, Fla.; Mr. James McKenna, Mr. Richard Daniels, Mr. Leo C. After his serious illness Dr. Radcliffe returned in good health and vigor and resumed his pulpit work Sunday morning.

An interesting wedding took place in Baltimore yesterday morning when Miss Almee L. Diggs, of this city, was married to Mr. Frederick Francis Donovan, also of this city. The ceremony was performed at 9:30 o'clock in St. Ignace's Church by the Rev. Rev. Geall, who was formerly pastor of St. Aloysius' Church in this city. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Mary Diggs, who was maid of honor. Mr. Alloysius McCorday, of Baltimore, acted as best man. The ceremony was followed by a nuptial high mass, and a breakfast followed the mass at the Hotel Rennet. Mr. Donovan and his bride left for a trip by sea to some of the Southern resorts. They will be at home in this city at 1229 V street southeast.

YOUR WEDDING DAY And the Famous Men and Women Who Have Shared It.

By MARY MARSHALL.

September 26—Salmon P. Chase and Eliza Ann Smith.

To have led three wives to the altar and to have surrendered them all to the grim conqueror—such was the great misfortune of Salmon Chase during the seven years that he sought the joys and comforts of married life. After the death of the third of these helpmates when Chase was still under 50, he seemed to have admitted his defeat in the struggle to find permanent domestic happiness. For after that the idea of marriage seemed to be far from him, and devoting himself more than ever to his public duties, he bore the manner of one who had known deep and abiding sorrow.

Chase was 31 at the time of his first marriage, which took place just seventy-seven years ago today. The bride was Eliza Ann Smith, of Cincinnati, barely more than a schoolgirl of 18. Within the six years of their happy life together three lovely baby girls were born, only one of whom lived to cheer the lonely years of her father.

Though not deeply interested in her husband's public career and ambitions the first Mrs. Chase was a true helpmeet in every sense of the word and through a peculiar tenderness and sweetness of character she softened the natural harshness of Chase's disposition in a way that actually aided him in his career more, perhaps, than she could possibly have done by a deeper interest in public affairs.

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Tuesday, September 26, 1916. Astrologers find that two good stars rule this day, although there are mild adverse influences. The Sun is in beneficent aspect from morning until night, while Jupiter and Mars are mildly evil in their aspect.

It is primarily a day for pushing all business or professional interests. The rule is believed to make persons in high places sympathetic and helpful. Political candidates should utilize the advantages which this day promises.

The planetary government is most favorable for spiritual and intellectual unfoldment. The stars predict that minds everywhere will be awakened to superb possibilities and that art and literature will benefit.

Dissatisfaction concerning military matters is foreshadowed in several States. Scandals and much gossip appear to be indicated.

In October a surprising incident will arouse public indignation and affect the national election, the seers declare. Storms of unusual violence are prognosticated and railway accidents are predicted.

The rise of a new woman financier is prophesied. She will be identified with the West.

Chicago has the augury of a year of vast gains in business. Artistic enterprises will also flourish. Recognition for a new theatrical star is foreshadowed. She will be an American now little known, it is announced by the seers.

Opera projects will become numerous and all the large cities will offer hitherto untapped musical opportunities. Persons whose birthdate it is should pay strict attention to practical things during the coming year. Speculation will be peculiarly unfortunate.

Children born on this day may have rather a hard time to make a living. These subjects of Libra are often too much inclined to pleasure, but they are likely to be gifted.
